OM400

The OM400 is a one-piece GPS/cellular monitoring device specifically designed to track low- to high-risk participants 24/7. The OM400 can pair with an optional OM400 RF Beacon to more precisely verify home locations.

Reliability is everything in participant tracking—and that's precisely why law enforcement agencies from across the country have chosen the OM400. This field-proven technology delivers data that is timely and accurate. With the OM400, Sentinel offers a number of advantages over other GPS monitoring devices on the market today:

- + The OM400 offers two-way communication, RF compatibility with optional Beacon unit;
- + The OM400 allows agencies to signal participants using vibrations and sounds—and receive an acknowledgment from the participant in return;
- + Minute-by-minute tracking options can provide in-depth details of a participant's movements;
- + The OM400 is equipped with Advanced Forward Link Trilateration (AFLT) that serves as a secondary tracking system, and;
- + Unique mobile inclusion, exclusion and buffer zones make the OM400 an excellent domestic violence monitoring solution.
